-Chief Athy has selected Marshall's stable, opposite the Overton hetel, and Pointer's stable, opposite the Waldran block, Main street, as localities for the pounds which are to be established the twenty-fifth of this month. All hogs and goats found within the corporate limits of the city will be seized, and cannot be redeemed. The board of health is determined to enforce this law. -In the first circuit court yesterday, Judge Heiskell overruled the motion already levied for that purpose. The plaintiffs excepted to the decision of the court, and will appeal to the next term of the supreme court to be held at Jackson next April.

-The Julia, from Vicksburg, arrived at half-past eleven o'clock last night, at half-past eleven o'clock last night, and after discharging fifty-four bales of cotton, departed, with a good passenger-trip, for St. Louis. Her officers report that the crevouse in the levee at Bolivar landing still admits of a large rush of water, though no considerable amount of damage has resulted, and it is thought the break will be repaired. The water, however, is as high as it was in 1867, and much of the lowland country has been submarged. The Julia country has been submerged. The Julia was behind-time on account of a strong current as d stiff winds, which did not, however, prevent this vessel from pursuing the even tenor of her way.

—Yesterday morning an order was issued by Mayor Loague to Chief-of-Police Athy to remove all the hacks from in front of business houses on Main, between Madison and Monroe streets, on the petition of Johnston & Vance, Francisco & Wiggin, O'Bannon & Morris, Mansfield & Higbee, E. L. Michot, and E. G. Barnaby. The chief also removed the hacks from the stand in front of Court square on Main, and in front of Court square on Main, and designated North and South Court streets as the hack-stands. While there is but little travel on North and South Court streets, still the beautiful shade trees there will be materially damaged by the horses. Thirty-three shade trees, that once adorned the west side of Court square, have disappeared, the hack-horses having killed them, and it is to be expected that the trees on North and South Court and Second streets will share the same fate.

Will rent the entire place for $3000, or in lots to suit at from $5 to 85 per acre. Apply to T. U. FERGUSON & CO., Dowd's Landing, Coahoma county, Miss., Or to RALPE WORMELEY & CO., No. 9 Union street, There was only a "good house" last night to greet Mr. Bangs, the talented Marseillaise, in which he has throughout the week pleased every one who saw him as "Jean Le Croix." Of this last character we have already spoken in terms sufficiently laudatory to indicate the high degree of care and ability which Mr. Bangs brings to its representation. It will not be necessary, therefore, to say more now than that he last night fully sustained the previously well-won good opinion of the people, and earned hearty applause in every scene. In the third and fourth acts of Julius Casar, however, without entering into any-thing like an extended critique, it is proper for us to say that he surpassed himself as we have learned to know him. His delivery of the well known speech of "Marc Antony," after the asassination of Julius Cæsar, was as fine a piece of declamation as we have heard in many a day, contrasting strangely, as it did with the delivery of the lines of the other characters. His emphasis and gesture were those of the natural orator. worked upon by the dreadful and un-timely fate of his friend, almost to the point of frenzy. He looked the character, and moved the character and bespoke it at every turn. His identity was completely merged in it, and he rose be-yond the mere trick of the stage to the realms of reality, and was indeed the iving embodiment of the great Roman. The funeral speech wherein he meets the requirements of "Brutus," that he was to speak in commendatory terms of the conspirators, and at the same time tells his grief and arouses the vengeful ire of the populace, was equally effective as a piece of oratory, felt, as it was, beyond the stage observators to whom it was addressed. characters to whom it was addressed and arousing the audience to a point o genuine enthusiasm. It was a rare treat, and was enjoyed by all present as such. We regret there was not a larger audience present, but we can assure Mr. Bangs of larger when next he visits us. Having broken the ice and made himself known to the people of Memphis as one of the rising actors of the stage, a man of deep study and great care, fired by a genuine ambition to excel, he is certain of a reception here next year worthy of his talents and his claims to high consideration at the hands of our play-goers. Spring Meeting of the Chickness Jock-cy Cinh - Large Attendance of Horses Looked for - Fine Sport Anticipated.

The spring meeting of the Chickasaw jockey club, which begins April 27th, already gives promise of a large attendance of horses, and unusually fine sport. We have been shown a letter received by an officer of the Chickasaw club, from a reliable gentleman connected officially with the Louisiana jockey club, in which he names the following list of stables as certain, barring accidents to some of the Green Morris, with Nellie R. and Edwin Adams.

J. J. Crowley, with Quartermaster and William Brady, with Falmouth and John McCormick. E. Warwick, with Tom Leathers and two three-year olds.

In addition to the above, it is known that two stables, J. B. Barry's and W. M. Barton's, each with four, and possibly other stables, will be here from Nash-

Peine & McMahon are at the track now with a string of four, including Lady Greenfield (full sister to Regent, Ontario, etc.), Mollie McCown, King Pin and another. C. Rothe, of Natchez, has entered in the stakes, and will be here with three; R. J. Alcorn, of Jackson, Mississippi will have two; from Mobile, Coffee, Sprague, Stone and Williamson are expected; from Lexington, Paul and Jackson. Bacon, Lewis & Co., and Hitch-cock were at the Charleston (S. C.) meeting, but the letter to which we refer states they are looked for daily at New Orleans; also that some, if New Orleans; also that some, if not all of them, will stop at Memphis, as they pass up en route to Nashville. When to the above, some of whom may, and likely will, fail to attend, are added the chances of stables dropping in from unexpected quarters, it will be seen there is no probability and scarcely a possibility of a such an the part of the club to secure such an attendance of horses as to insure well contested purses and fine sport. The meeting takes place at the close of an setive business season, following a year of anxiety, labor and care. The public hearin to long for relaxation and amuse-hearin to long for relaxation and amuse-hearin to long for relaxation and double race week a double to be afcocking main, Alabama versus Tennessee, will take place, as is doubtless already known to such of our readers as take an interest in cock-fighting.
